Gordon's work offers imagery which explores the inherent mutability the artist finds between the world of matter and the world of imagination and dreams. The imagery he presents develops tension between recognizable objects and ethereal expressions using pared down abstract visual language.

His images provide an exploration of the possibilities between what we see of an object and what we perceive of the object beyond the mere direct visual impact our eyes receive. J. Gordon has had his work exhibited and collected widely throughout the region. Gordon, a Wilmington resident, serves as a curatorial associate at the Delaware Center for the Contemporary Arts.
